Guido Schulz

Guido Schulz was born in Neustadt an der Weinstraße where he grew up close to Göppingen in Baden-Württemberg.

Years later he decided that he wants to study journalism and moved to Munich to pursue his goal. In 1986 Guido started working for BMG Records, once a famous music label and after 8 years he moved to Berlin to create his own label called "No Limits", which nowadays still holds relevance.

Guido has always been interested in photography, which is why he felt encouraged to publish his first book "Heaven and Hell" and also exhibiting his art in galleries reaching from Berlin to Düsseldorf, Frankfurt, Stuttgart and Kassel. In the meantime he published three books, "Heaven and Hell", "Sound and Smoke" and the latest "Noise In Our Time".

Guido Schulz Neustadt an der Weinstrasse'de doğdu ardından gazetecilik okumak için Münih'e taşındı. 1986'da BMG Records ile çalışmaya başladı, 1994'te Berlin'e taşınarak kendi plak şirketi No Limit'i kurdu. 2019'da profesyonel olarak sergilere katılmaya başlayan Schulz Berlin, Düsseldorf, Frankfurt Stuttgart, Kassel de gerçekleşen sergilerinin yanı sıra "Heaven and Hell", "Sound and Fury" ve "Noise in Our Time" başlıklı üç kitap yayınladı. Çalışmalarına Berlin'de devam etmekte.
